How is my consumption calculated?

Transactions are calculated based on the number of documents created in Business Central and sent through Document Output.

Transactions are calculated the same way whether a document is printed, sent via e-mail, or as XML (both to a file folder or via Delivery Network), and documents count as invoices, account statement reminders, or similar.

Other attachments related to a bank statement, or a reminder are excluded from the calculation. This also applies to files created outside Business Central (e.g., promotional flyers or Sales Conditions) that are added to an e-mail template.

At the end of each month, the total number of transactions is calculated. The price table on this page provides an overview of the price levels.
